Reflection ~ This weekend, we welcome Bishop Liam MacDaid among us to share with us in celebrating another milestone on the journey of faith development in St Michael's Parish, Enniskillen and Lisbellaw. He will bless the new Aumbry in St Michael's Church (beside the baptismal font) and he will commission the Parish Pastoral Council. The Aumbry for the Holy Oils beside the Baptismal Font has brought a new dignity to the baptismal space and gives due honour to the oils used in Baptism, Confirmation and the Anointing of the Sick. It is also a time to celebrate the work of the Parish Baptism Team enabling those who approach the Sacrament of Baptism to do so with greater understanding and with a warmer sense of welcome. The commissioning of the Parish Pastoral Council marks a new stage in a process that began in the parish during Lent 2011 when an invitation was issued to parishioners to join in a conversation about the future of the parish. Some sixty people faithfully made that journey over six weeks. Out of that process emerged, some three months later, both a Parish Pastoral Council and also nine new ministry groups to add to the more than twenty other long-established parish ministries. The process continues today in the search for new ways to respond to our baptismal call to live the Gospel and share the Good News.
