Reflection: Spring has such fragile beginnings; a tiny shoot of green here, a hint of pastel there, a bud that only half opens. Sometimes spring comes so subtly you almost miss it. But once it begins there is no stopping it; as it spreads there is no mistaking it. The morning sun brings sounds that were not there before. The breeze carries a warmth that invites you to venture outside yourself. A promise is released with the budding and blossoming, and it showers you with new hope. What you experience in the springtime of the year is what you experience in the springtime of grief. There comes a time of growing radiance. And the radiance is not just around you ó it is within you. (James E Millar óSeasons of Grief and Healing

Parish Messenger – 15th March 2015

Fourth Sunday of Lent

Naomh Pádraig, Aspal Mór na hÉireann

St Patrick's Day is a great opportunity to interrupt Lent and more importantly to celebrate the gift of faith. Patrick's own story has many twists and turns and it is a great example for us. Patrick brought an entire nation to share in the gift of faith in Jesus Christ. Sharing our faith with those around us is not an easy task. We get ridiculed, even laughed at. But our witness, our actions, our choices can speak to people too. We should celebrate our identity on the Feast day of St Patrick but also celebrate the Christian message that was preserved and passed on. We send greetings and good wishes to all those from our Parish who are away from home at this time
