Reflection

The Freedom of Not Knowing

Prayer is largely just being silent: holding the tension instead of even talking it through, offering the moment instead of fixing it by words and ideas, loving reality as it is instead of understanding it fully. Prayer is commonly a willingness to say "I don't know." We must not push the river, we must just trust that we are already in the river, and God is the certain flow and current.

That may be impractical, but the way of faith is not the way of efficiency. So much of life is just a matter of listening and waiting, and enjoying the expansiveness that comes from such willingness to hold. It is like carrying and growing a baby: women wait and trust and hopefully eat good food, and the baby is born.

Deaths: We pray for the recently deceased: John Fox, Croydon and Derrin Road; Gretta Woods, Irvinestown; Josephine Burns, Donegal; John O'Connor, Belfast and Cavanacara; Gene Bruce, Rehall, Irvinestown; Amy Baird, Indianapolis.
May they rest in peace.
