Parish Cells: Are You Interested? The Irish National Cell Committee describes a cell community as "a faith group of 4 to 12 people, who meet every two weeks in the informal setting of a home." It is not another prayer group though prayer is very much part of it. It is a group that reaches out to the community and the parish. It is a group that looks for ways to help and to support the parish community. The entire meeting takes about one hour and twenty minutes. If you are interested in knowing more about this please let one of the priests know or leave your name and number in the Parish Office and we will get back to you.

Care of Creation Corner: Dominion (as used in Book of Genesis) is not absolute power, nor does it convey a right to destroy. It is true that human beings have a special place in creation, but abuse and misuse of creation are not what God intends. We have a moral responsibility to use the resources of creation with care. As God cares and loves us through the wonder of creation, we should reflect that care in our relationship to the environment. All of creation is for all of humanity. Exploiting the created world separates us from God. What can I do to reduce the waste of natural resources? What can I do to encourage others to be good stewards of creation? Pray to the Creator with these words or your own. Generous God, Creator of all, thank you for sustaining us with your creation. Help me to work in harmony with your spirit to care for this gift. Amen.
